INTERACTIVE VIDEO

Largentum, Inc. is offering through its Creative Arts Services a compelling interactive video technology that allows the users to interact with the video that is displayed. You are only limited by your imagination because you can apply this solution to educational applications, information distribution, promotions, and most of all - demand generation for your services. The solution is internet based, works on all browsers, and converts your video to an interactive browser experience. We will customize a high quality video solution that allows users to click on items within the video and have additional information, images, or web pages show up within the video. This powerful solution allows users drive their experience which results in a more compelling interaction with your interactive video. The provided full analytics will generate the data that you need to understand performance. The experience with this ground breaking technology will have your customers wanting more and more.
